DRAFT ORDERS
ARE CLARIFIED
FOR MICHIGANSTATE TO FURNISH
35,000 MEN BY
JUNE 30

Lansing, Jan. 23 (AP)—Seeking to clarify the new draft directives, Brig. Gen. Leroy Pearson, state selective service director, today summarized the regulations which gave the nation's draft boards the task of supplying more men for the armed services and bolstering a waning reserve of industrial workers.

Pearson asserted the new regulations require the draft system to perform all tasks short of an actual national service law, and said the new directives do two things:

1—They shift the immediate demand for more fighting men to men under 26 years of age now deferred for farming.

2—They attempt to move more men into war production work and to stabilize the present industrial staff by authorizing draft boards to refuse job transfers to men who have been deferred for occupational reasons.

With Michigan expected generally to send about 35,000 men into the armed forces by June 30, Pearson said about 2,000 a month are expected to come from youths reaching 18 years of age.

Farmers Come First
A maximum of 10,000 may come from deferred farmers under 26, Pearson said, while the remaining 13,000 in the main will come from men over 26 years of age not engaged in essential war work.

Draft boards have been ordered to give first priority to the examination, reclassification and induction of farm workers under 26. Pearson said, in line with President Roosevelt's finding that deferment of that group "is not as essential to the best interest of our war effort as is the urgent and more essential need of the army and navy for young men," and that "agriculture like our other war industries can, with few exceptions, be carried on by those in the older age groups."

There are about 16,000 Michigan deferred men in that group and already farm groups are contending the loss of the bulk of them would injure food production. About 45,000 farm deferments are listed in the state.

Declaring that draft boards have been instructed to be "very liberal" with farmers over 26 years of age, Pearson said that if congress blocks the drafting of these young farmers the bulk of the armed forces' needs must come from men over 26 years of age engaged in essential and critical war work.

2-B Class Last
Second priority for reclassification under new rules, Pearson said, falls on men 23 to 25 not in essential war work. He said, however, that only about 9,000 of these men remain in Michigan and that the group has been combed so many times in the past that few new prospects are likely from it. The group includes a large number of men in essential civilian jobs.

The third source of soldiers now, Pearson said, is the 40,000 men over 30 not engaged in war work. This group, he said, has the alternative of taking a war production job, thus meeting the second purpose of the new national directives. These men are threatened with the draft unless they

Berlin Admits Soviet Tide Unchecked; Roads
Swarm With Refugees

BY RICHARD KASISCHKE

London, Jan. 23 (AP)—Hordes of German refugees streamed out of Poland and eastern Germany today as Berlin admitted the Russian tide, still was largely unchecked and Hitler sped Heinrich Himmler and other "iron-willed" leaders to the critical eastern front with orders to "make and execute drastic decisions."

The refugees—women, children and aged—swarmed the roads of eastern Germany, backtracking the paths over which the German army swept in opening its war of conquest more than five years ago.

Many of them came from the "Lemmerstrasse" Hitler stole from

HOOPER SLAYING
REWARD POSTEDPhraseology Of Offer
Adjusted; Hunt Goes To Underworld

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 23 (AP)—State Police Captain Harold Mulbar said tonight that Abe Rosenberg, 44, of Detroit, had been arrested on an open charge "for investigation of murder" in the slaying of State Senator Warren G. Hooper.

The detective captain said Rosenberg had been questioned previously regarding the case, but that no formal charge had been entered against him until today. He asserted that Rosenberg was being held incommunicado.

Lansing, Jan. 23 (AP)—The state today formally posted a $25,000 reward for solution of one of Michigan's most baffling murder mysteries—the "ride" slaying of State Senator Warren G. Hooper.

Governor Kelly said he would sign an order immediately effective law tomorrow morning, as soon as it has been enrolled by the state printers.

An inter-chamber fight between the house and senate over phraseology of the reward offer flattened out, the house receding from its insistence that the measure should identify Hooper as one of the key witnesses before the Carr grand jury investigating graft in state government.

Kim Sigler, special prosecutor of the grand jury, contends Hooper was killed by professional gunmen hired to shoot him to prevent him from becoming a star prosecution witness in trials resulting from the grand jury inquiry.

Sigler has announced he would confer with police officials this week in Chicago, Cleveland and Toledo, to arrange for complete use of underworld informational sources in efforts to track down the killers.

SOLDIERS FEAST
ON HAMBURGERSMichigan Firm Canning
Meat Patties To Ship Overseas

Lake Odessa, Jan. 23 (AP)—Favorite food of America's younger generation—sweet tasty home-made hamburgers—are now being served to GI's overseas. They are really home-made too, since they are being fried right here in Lake Odessa.

The Lake Odessa Canning Company is the only plant in America currently canning hamburgers, an official of the company said today in disclosing their newest product.

Canned hamburgers may sound peculiar, but according to reports coming in from soldiers overseas they are something out of this world.

The government wanted hamburgers for the army for a long time and finally the Lake Odessa firm decided to take a try at it and with good results. Maj. Rex Ten Eyck, of Greenville, home on leave says his outfit in Italy was feasting on home made hamburgers when he left for home.

The plant here is turning out from 100,000 to 120,000 cans a day, each containing two hamburgers that have been fried exactly three minutes in deep fat, then packed in cans without water and fat and processed for an hour and a half. The result is a hamburger of the type you can only get at home, they say.

Six specially constructed machines turn out 100 meat patties each a minute—these are fed on to a belt which passes through a huge vat of boiling fat and then are deposited in the round flat cans.

That is all there is to it except reheating and eating many miles away, except that onions and catsup have to be furnished on the spot.

Backward Daughter Slain
With Ax; Sanity Test
Arranged

Grand Rapids, Jan. 23 (AP)—Carl V. Gilbert, 41-year-old former inmate of the Kalamazoo state hospital, pleaded guilty late Tuesday to a first degree murder charge of brutally slaying his five year old mentally deficient daughter with an ax. Superior Judge Leonard D. Verrier said Gilbert will go before a sanity commission before further action is given.

A little man, not quite five feet and wearing thick spectacles, Gilbert's composure was not shaken when he told the judge "I did it. I want to take my punishment."

The guilty plea came less than 24 hours after Gilbert struck the child, Jessie Pearl, twice with a long handled ax Monday night because she "wouldn't mind."

Gilbert told the court he punished the child with an electric iron cord and drew blood. "The sight of blood always makes me crazy," he declared adding that he ran to get the ax, but only intended to "scare" Jessie.

Jessie was found in the family home last night by police summoned by neighbors. She was dead shortly after being admitted to Butterworth hospital.

FORMER SENATOR DEAD
Royal Oak, Mich., Jan. 23 (AP)—Former State Senator James E. Lawson, 65, of Royal Oak died today at Royal Oak hospital. Lawson served one term as a state senator, three as a state representative and also was a member of the Oakland county board of supervisors and the Royal Oak city commission.

The company contended that the return from its telephone charges is "not so high as to be unjust and unreasonable," and that the order is "onerous" and not based upon good rate making practice.

The commission ordered the refund in an effort to reduce the company's federal excess profits tax liability as suggested by the state supreme court.

LAST GERMAN
BASE SEIZED
IN ARDENNESRETREATING ENEMY
POUNDED ALL THE
WAY TO RHINE

BY AUSTIN BEALMEAR

Paris, Jan. 23. (AP)—The American First and Third armies and the Ninth air force delivered a knockout blow to the last German defenders of the Ardennes today when the doughboys closed to within four miles of the Reich frontier with gains up to five miles on a 30-mile front and the airmen destroyed or damaged nearly 2,000 fleeing enemy vehicles.

St. Vith, eastern Belgian highway center and last major bastion in the one-dangerous bulge, fell to units of the First army at 5:45 p. m. after an all-day fight, according to a frontline dispatch from Associated Press Correspondent Edward D. Ball.

Town Just Rubbish

As the two American armies swept in behind the retreating Germans, thrusting to within an average of five miles of the border all along the line, Ninth air force fighter-bombers carried their annihilation of the enemy through a second day and were joined by Invader and Havoc bombers which were used in this theater for the first time as deck-level strafing planes.

The recapture of St. Vith came one month and two days after the Americans were pushed out by the Germans' December counter-offensive. Ball said that the town had been beaten into an almost unrecognizable pulp by American artillery and planes.

At the southern end of the western front the French First army, after being held to limited gains since opening an attack Saturday, launched what was described as a "new and powerful" offensive on the Alsace plain. The assault, mounted against the northern side of the Colmar pocket, was said to have achieved "total surprise."

Third Army Moving
At the northern end of the front the British Second army gained two miles on a six-mile arc to points more than seven miles inside the German frontier. Southward the American Third army made gains up to two miles along a 20-mile front against stiffening resistance in the lower portion of the Belgian bulge.

Germans opposing the Third army at the lower end of the disappearing Ardennes bulge offered the first substantial resistance in days from the hills along the Clerf River.

Near the center of the front the Sixth cavalry group cut two miles east to Wilwerwiltz and then wheeled five miles north to Eselborn. This strong reconnaissance met slight opposition, indicating that the Germans had withdrawn at least to the Clerf between Wilz and Eselborn.

With the last German defenders of the Ardennes still attempting to run the flaming gantlet to the Rhineland, American airmen carried their battle of annihilation to a dramatic pitch.

Day Of Judgment
Near For Income
Taxes Unforgiven

Washington, Jan. 23 (AP)—The day of judgment is approaching for those who are unforgiven. Yes, brethren, the Bureau of Internal Revenue announced today that separate bills are being mailed to about 4,000,000 citizens who postponed paying part of their "unforgiven" income taxes.

The collection will be taken up no later than March 15. The total amount due is $900,000,000. In case you've forgotten when this forgiveness business. When the pay-as-you-go system started, congress cancelled in most cases at least 75 per cent of the 1942 or 1943 tax, whichever was smaller. At least half of the unforgiven portion—if any—was due by March 15, 1944. The rest is coming due now.

The reason for sending separate bills is this: 50,000,000 people have to file 1944 income tax return by March 15, but only 4,000,000 of them have to pay any unforgiven taxes from 1942. The two transactions will be entirely separate because there's no use confusing the other 46,000,000 tax payers. Amen.

Refund Opposed
By Michigan Bell

Lansing, Jan. 23 (AP)—The Michigan Bell Telephone Company today filed suit in Ingham county circuit court for temporary and permanent injunctions against enforcement of a public service commission order to refund $3,500,000 of its revenues to its customers.

The company contended that the return from its telephone charges is "not so high as to be unjust and unreasonable," and that the order is "onerous" and not based upon good rate making practice.

The commission ordered the refund in an effort to reduce the company's federal excess profits tax liability as suggested by the state supreme court.

Advance Continues
On Road To Manila;
Jap Homeland Hit

BY RAY CRONIN

Associated Press War Editor
American land forces headed for Manila advanced five miles southwest on the central Luzon plains, captured a former U. S. Filipino army base and gained new positions 54 miles north of the Philippines capital, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported late Tuesday.

As American planes continued their smashing attacks on Japanese lines of communications and Luzon airfields, the doughboys took Camp O'Donnell, in southern Tarlac province, and captured the roadside town of Concepcion.

Meanwhile official reports from other American sources said hard-hitting army and navy fliers again struck Japan's homeland industries and the Ryukyu islands. The latter raids, by carrier planes, were designed to protect Luzon invasion forces from aerial attacks.

On the northern Luzon front, in the troublesome Benguet mountain foothills, the Yanks wiped out a Japanese stronghold on Mt. Alava taking great stores of supplies, including 2,000 tons of ammunition and a half dozen field guns.

Manila district airdromes and gun positions and barracks on Batan peninsula were hammered by airmen. The fliers also bombed strategic Balete pass, mountain gateway to the Cagayan valley of northeastern Luzon.

Naval pilots off Third fleet carriers, flying in support of Luzon ground forces, lashed the biggest Japanese air base in the Ryukyus last Sunday.

American Superfortresses out of Saipan, in sizable force, bombed industrial targets at Nagoya, on Japan's main Honshu island, late Monday, Tokyo Time.

Reports from the Guam B-29 base said the sky giants, operating at lower altitudes than usual, smashed Nagoya war industries. One Superfort was lost to Japanese gunfire as the Nipponese offered the strongest air opposition yet encountered over that target.

The B-29 gunners were believed to have bagged a large number of the Japanese interceptors. One crew saw 15 Nippon planes crash.

Radio Tokyo said some 70 Superfortresses were in the Nagoya strike.

WALLACE VOTE
IS SIDETRACKEDCritics Seek To Crimp
Responsibilities Of Cabinet Job

BY WILLIAM T. PEACOCK

Washington, Jan. 23 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace's nomination to be secretary of commerce was shoved on to a senate sidetrack today, while his critics sought to hack away the job's vast financial responsibilities.

The commerce committee voted 10 to 2 to defer consideration of the nomination and take up first the proposal by Senator George (D-Ga.) to strip the government's big lending agencies from the commerce department. Hearings on the George bill were called for 2:30 p. m. (EWT) tomorrow.

George and Wallace were invited to testify as was Jesse Jones, the banker President Roosevelt removed as commerce secretary to make room in the cabinet for the former vice president.

Chairman Bailey (D-NC) said the commerce committee had no intention of delaying action on the nomination.

Bill Introduced
To Enlarge State

Lansing, Jan. 23 (AP)—Legislation to enlarge substantially the area of the State of Michigan was introduced in the senate today, and at the same time the Wolverine State was asked to give up 70.6 square miles of Lake Erie to Ohio.

The resolution introduced by Senator Muriel H. Defoe, Charlotte Republican, would declare Michigan's area to be 96,721 square miles, 57,022 of it land and 39,699 of its inland water.

The resolution is the culmination of a long fight by former Governor Chase S. Osborn, explorer and author, and his daughter, Stellanova, to force the U. S. Census Bureau to give Michigan credit for that portion of the Great Lakes embraced by the state's boundaries. Osborn accused the bureau of giving such credit to certain eastern seaboard states but refusing it to Michigan.

The bureau commonly has recorded Michigan as having an area of about 58,000 square miles, crediting it with 1,194 square miles of inland lakes.

WISE MENACES
DEFENDERS OF
EAST PRUSSIAPOZNAN, 137 MILES
EAST OF BERLIN, IS DOOMED

BY W. W. HERCHER

London, Wednesday, Jan. 24. (AP)—The Russian First Ukraine army reached the Oder River in German Silesia in overwhelming strength on a 37½-mile front yesterday and confidently prepared to leap that vaunted defense barrier into the heart of the Reich as other Red armies came within 22 miles of closing the war's greatest trap on all of East Prussia.

Between those two theaters of victorious action, still another Red army slogged westward over the Polish plains at a somewhat slower pace on the most direct road toward Berlin, now reported but 137 miles away, in the vicinity of Poznan.

One Flaw In Triumph

The tremendous sweep of the Soviet winter offensive, now in its thirteenth day on a front of more than 600 miles, was heralded by Premier Stalin in four orders of the day and by the midnight Moscow communique broadcast. The Russian offensive in a single day had captured more than 3,350 communists, 1,500 of them inside Germany.

While Moscow's overworked saluting guns boomed out their familiar salvos of celebration, there was but one small flaw in the otherwise unbroken record of triumph: The Moscow communique disclosed that the stubbornly counter-attacking Germans in western Hungary had recaptured Szekesfehervar, 30 miles southwest of Budapest. Despite the gigantic rout of their forces in Poland, Silesia and East Prussia, the Nazis managed to muster "large forces" of tanks and infantry for the Hungarian drive, Moscow disclosed.

Barrier Gets Test
Thirty German tanks were knocked out at Szekesfehervar alone Monday, compared with 26 on all other fronts, the communique said, in a possible hint that much of the Soviet advance was still a pursuit.

Premier Stalin, announcing the great thrust by Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukraine army group to the Oder, placed the location in the area of Breslau, capital and key city of lower (northern) Silesia. The Moscow communique named towns captured along the eastern bluffs of the river along a 19-mile front southeast of Breslau, between Ohlau and Oppeln, but gave no clue to where the remainder of the 37½-mile river frontage lay.

Nearest announced approach to Breslau was at Ellguth, 13 miles east of that industrial center.

The Oder, long publicized as Germany's greatest natural eastern defense line and probably fortified in depth, already was being put to the test, and the Moscow radio last night stated:

"Tonight Russian armies stand along the Oder in strength—poised to cross the first water barrier in the Reich. On the Vistula and

GERMANS FACE SILESIA LOSS

"Eastern Ruhr" Is Rich Source Of War Minerals

In the path of Soviet forces rolling westward from devastated Krakow is the German-Polish border-straddling patch of Upper Silesia generally described as second only to the Ruhr as a concentration of industry supplying the Nazi war machine. The area of this man-made blot on the Silesian landscape is roughly 300 square miles, one-fourth the area of the Ruhr. More than half of it lies in Poland, east of the political boundary fixed by the League of Nations at Geneva in 1922. Its greatest concentration covers a rich coal deposit 25 miles from east to west and three to six miles wide, says the National Geographic Society.

In this area no single municipal center stands out, but six communities had "just grown" like Topsy, in haphazard fashion dictated by machine-age demands. Each of them had around 100,000 residents before the present war. They are Sosnowiec, Katowice, and Chorzow in Poland; Beuthen, Hindenburg and Gleiwitz in the Reich.

Together with a score or two of smaller towns these formed a continuous jumble of mining pits, iron and steel mills, blast furnaces, factories, railroad tracks, drab homes of workers, stretching the full length of the coal deposit.

U P BUREAU TO ADVERTISE

Wants To Capture Share Of Postwar Travel, Says Bishop

Marquette — Continuation of an aggressive program of publicity and advertising aimed at capturing and maintaining a high volume of postwar tourist travel to the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, was announced here by George E. Bishop, secretary-manager of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau.

Despite recent ruling of the Office of Defense Transportation restricting travel unessential to the war effort, the Development Bureau continued to lay out its advertising campaign for 1945, raising its sights definitely to the postwar period.

"In the light of recent rulings of the ODT restricting travel and conventions," Bishop said, "The Upper Peninsula Development Bureau is developing its 1945 advertising and publicity program looking forward to servicing and satisfying those who may have the opportunity to visit the Upper Peninsula this year, but primarily to meet the competition of other areas which are now building strong programs to capture post-war travel."

He asserted that the prestige of the Lake States region as a recreational area must be maintained. At the same time he announced plans for publication of the 1945 issue of the Lure Book, to be as an attractive and extensive a publication as in previous years.

DRAFT ORDERS ARE CLARIFIED FOR MICHIGAN

move into essential employment approved by their draft boards.

Pearson said the only remaining big pool of available servicemen is the group of 2-B classifications deferred for critical war production work. These are not expected to be touched until all other sources are sifted.

Pearson emphasized that despite predictions and discussion in Washington the selective service system now has no control over 4-F deferments, of whom there are about 140,000 in Michigan.

President Roosevelt has asked for authority to force all 4-F's into essential occupations but that request still is before congress.

Pearson said draft boards are being urged, however, to reclassify all 4-F's who are in essential work as class two so that draft boards can control their future job transfers.

Mrs. John Fawcett accepted the chairmanship of the organization committee, which will select leaders and organize the Girl Scout troops.

Mrs. G. W. Traverse was selected to head the training committee and organize and train adults who will participate in the program.

William Leiper, financial chairman of the Girl Scout council, reported on how the $500 raised in the War Fund community chest drive for the Girl Scouts will be expended in the initial year of organization. The funds will be spent, he declared, in promoting the development of the whole Girl Scout program throughout the county.

William Smith was named public relations chairman for the council.

support and ranging far behind the German lines all the way to the Rhine, the air force had another day of excellent hunting and initial tabulations indicated an even bigger bag than yesterday's total of some 3,000 vehicles destroyed or damaged.

Far to the north at the top of the Allied line on the western front the British Second army smashed nearer to Heinsberg, the most important road center in the dwindling German-held portion of the Roer-Maas triangle, and the prisoner count since the British attack started on Jan. 16 reached 1,400.

The First army captured 526 prisoners in the past 24 hours, bringing its total since the opening of the German offensive Dec. 16 to 22,068. The Third army captured 480 in the last 24 hours for a total since Dec. 16 of 19,019.

Taxi-Town Fables

Mort Farley thought he was saving money for his boss by using his own car on business errands around town. And he didn't try to stick the firm on his expense account, either. It was really fair.

But the boss called him into the inner sanctum. "Listen, Mort," he said, "this is a big corporation but we can't afford this kind of economy. We've found we save time and money by using taxi cabs for business trips. Hereafter, call a taxi cab."

Courses Are Sponsored By Michigan Tech Of Houghton

Nine hundred men and women in the Upper Peninsula are taking adult education courses under the sponsorship of the Michigan College of Mining and Technology. The largest total enrollment is in Iron Mountain, where ten courses are being given. One of these and one in Ironwood lead all others in the peninsula in students registered, followed by a 50-man public speaking course at Calumet. The large courses are conducted in several sections.

In addition, polls and class lists being compiled in four other Upper Peninsula cities give a prospect of a dozen more courses carrying a possible enrollment of more than 150.

These are among major facts in a report submitted this week to President Grover C. Dillman of Michigan Tech by Dr. James Fisher, extension director. Dr. Fisher is in charge of the college's adult education work, which includes the Engineering, Science, and Management War Training program and also the Special Shops Training program conducted at the college.

"Among the aims of adult education, Dr. Fisher states, is to supplement previously acquired knowledge or skill. A second aim is to develop attitudes, appreciations, and habits that will contribute to a satisfying individual life and to effective citizenship.

TOURIST BILL IS INTRODUCED

All - State Advertising Program Proposed By Measure

A bill to give permanent status to the Michigan Tourist Council and to provide for bi-annual appropriations to be used in all-state advertising and publicity programs, will be up for hearing before the finance committee of the state senate January 24.

George E. Bishop, chairman of the Michigan Tourist Council, said the council had concurred in the provisions of the bill, as amended, and that as chairman of the Michigan Tourist Council he will urge its approval by the committee when he appears at the hearing. Attending the hearing with Bishop will be William Palmer of Grand Rapids and Frank Davis of Bay City, both members of the council.

The bill, as introduced in the senate as Senate Bill No. 1, by Senator Otto Bishop of Alpena, provides that the Michigan Tourist Council be composed of nine members, four of them to be the secretaries of the four Michigan resort associations and five to be appointed by the governor from nominations submitted by the other four members. The terms of the members would be staggered and they would serve without compensation or expense allowances.

It was expected an appropriation of $250,000 to carry on the work of the council would be recommended by the council to the state budget committee. This appropriation would be for a two year period. Of the $250,000 each of the four tourist associations of the state would receive $25,000 in the form of reimbursement for 80 per cent of the amounts spent by the associations for advertising and publicity, while $150,000 would be used in the council's advertising and promotional program for the two years.

Priorities Fixed For Spud Shipping

Chicago (AP)—Three classes of priorities governing shipment of potatoes in refrigerator cars from 20 producing states including Wisconsin and Michigan went into effect today.

The No. 1 priority will be for shipments destined for the armed forces; No. 2 for shipments to dehydrators or processors, and No. 3 for seed potatoes to 15 Southern and Missouri valley states and two counties in New York.

The order forbade railroads to divert or reassign shipments from these destinations to points other than those covered in the order. Canned goods also are banned from refrigerator shipments until Jan. 30.

Major Edgar Ulrey In 41 Air Missions

An Eighth Air Force Bomber Station, England. — A veteran of 17 months combat service in Europe, Edgar E. Ulrey, 705 St. Joseph St., Sturgis, Mich., was recently promoted from the rank of captain to major.

Operations officer of a B-17 Flying Fortress squadron, Major Ulrey arrived overseas in June, 1943, as a second lieutenant, established himself as an outstanding pilot in bombing operations over enemy territory and was rewarded by progressive promotions in rank.

The 25-year-old Sturgis airman, as a result of his extended combat experience, has been a witness to revolutionary changes in heavy bomber tactics. In the early days of his flights over Germany and German-occupied countries, the Fortresses made their journeys without benefit of friendly fighter escort and many were the running machine gun battles in which his formation engaged with enemy craft, which at times numbered in the hundreds.

Major Ulrey has also seen the introduction of new equipment and techniques that permit bombing of the objective despite the fact that it may be completely covered by clouds. When he first began flying over Europe, attacks had to be carried out visually.

Major Ulrey flew a series of 27 operations during his first 10 months in England, spent a month on furlough in the States and then returned to his unit for further combat service. He now has 41 missions to his credit and flies as commander of large formations of Fortresses.

He Asked For It

THE appointment of former Vice President Henry A. Wallace, as Secretary of Commerce, succeeding Jesse Jones, by President Roosevelt, has stirred up a hornet's nest within the inner councils of the New Deal party at Washington, that threatens a disruption of relations between the administrative and legislative branches of our national government, as serious as any that has hampered national legislation in the past.

President Roosevelt must assume personal responsibility for the most recent outbreak, by demanding the resignation of Jesse H. Jones, long a wheel horse of southern Democracy, in order to make room in the cabinet for the former vice president, in recognition of his unswerving support in the party's recent fourth term campaign.

By his action President Roosevelt has won the bitter enmity of such powerful figures in the United States Senate, as Senators George, of Georgia, Connally, of Texas, Bailey, of North Carolina and others of the southern senatorial bloc. In ousting Jesse Jones, whose financial experience of a life-time particularly fitted him for the critical service he has been rendering the nation, in order to pay a political debt to an individual who possesses no experience, whatever, in the post to which he is assigned, would seem to be not only a monstrous political blunder, but an action that engenders animosities that could have been avoided in this critical period.

By his most recent action President Roosevelt has again, needlessly, endangered his leadership, at a time when strong leadership is most desperately needed.

People Can Take It

KENT COOPER, executive director of the Associated Press, gave some good advice when he urged that the United States lead the world in the free exchange of information and called upon President Roosevelt to be its chief advocate.

We have witnessed already several examples of how censorship of the news works to the disadvantage of our war effort. Allied military reverses and battle losses often have been glossed over, and minor gains made to appear much greater than they really have been. As a result, overconfidence became rampant on the home front, workers left their war jobs for other work with a peacetime future, and production of military equipment suffered.

There are signs now and then that the American people are not informed about what goes on in our diplomatic relations with other nations. It should be pointed out, however, that the fault does not lie with the newspapers but with the military and civil authorities, who hamper the dissemination of the news. Some censorship is justified for military reasons, of course, but there is the danger that, once given the power of news suppression under exigencies of war, the government officials will extend this power to dangerous limits.

The newspapers of America believe that the American people can take their war news straight and are stubbornly resisting the encroachment upon the freedom of the press.

Supervised Recreation

ESTABLISHMENT of a supervised recreational program in Pontiac was asked by the Civitan club of that city in a resolution forwarded to City Manager George E. Bean a few days after his arrival there to assume his new position.

It is quite likely that Pontiac's new city manager will do his utmost to comply with the service club's wishes. Mr. Bean was instrumental to no small degree in the development of a supervised play program in Escanaba. For several years, this new municipal department was headed up by Bevier Butts, who not long ago was called to Waukegan, Ill., to assume a similar but better paying position.

No successor to Butts has been appointed as yet, and the program has been streamlined because of wartime conditions. After the war, however, recreation will play a greater role than ever before in community life, and it is to be hoped that Escanaba will reestablish this important program on a scale that will be commensurate with the public's needs.

Room For All

THE railroads are America's basic form of transportation. Without them commerce would be stopped dead in its tracks. Thus all of us, even the rails' competitors, must work for the maintenance of a transportation system which gives the railroads a fair and equal chance to carry that part of the total traffic for which they are economically best fitted on the basis of true costs and service.

Of all the various forms of transportation, ranging from barge canals to airlines, trucks and steamships, none is as near 100 per cent a self-supporting private endeavor as the railroads. Government barge canals, for example, are neither self supporting nor taxing.

Favoring one particular form of transport over another is utter folly. In a nation of 3,000,000 square miles, all forms are needed. Prejudiced enthusiasts who try to cling to special tax and regulatory benefits for their pet method of conveyance, whether it be land, sea or air, are simply cutting their own throats in the long run. Trucks could not begin to fill the shoes of the railroads, and anyone visualizing the airlines as capable of assuming the mass transportation now being borne by rail is doomed to disillusionment, just as are the railroad men who kid themselves into the idea that by making a Pullman look like the fuselage of an air transport they can take business away from the airlines.

This country has the best transportation system in the world. The reason it is the best is because in the main it is a development of competitive private industry, the backbone of which is the railroads. Any transportation worth the name must stand on its own feet and be coordinated with all other means of transportation so as to render the greatest public service.

Other Editorial Comments

STILL TIME FOR BIRDS (Christian Science Monitor)

Soldiers slogging in the mud of battlefronts and sailors traveling to strange ports are not too weighed down by their equipment and immediate jobs to forget to look at the birds.

An infantryman in France writes to ask that the Massachusetts Audubon Society send him a bird guide for that country. A Marine who saw action in the Mariana Islands describes a flock of 40 Pacific golden plovers on the beach. And an Army Lieutenant writes from the Galapagos Islands off the northwestern coast of South America. "I received news of a plane making the rounds of all the major islands on a photographic mission and had the luck to be allowed to go along. As we came in low over one of the islands, a patch of pink caught my eye, and I asked the pilot to go down. We descended to about 100 feet and skimmed in over a marshy piece of ground. Imagine my astonishment and joy to see a flock of about 60 flamingos! We circled the flock about three times, which didn't seem to bother the mat all, although we roared right over their heads!"

Busy at war, these men still look with the eyes of peace at the small and quiet things. There are men like them in the ranks of every army. When the battles are over and their war jobs are done, such mutual interests will form quiet but strong bonds among men and women of different nations.

COBBLER'S SON BOWS OUT AS EARL (Detroit Free Press)

Retiring from public life at the age of 82, David Lloyd George accepts the title of earl from his king. Yet it was this same Lloyd George, as the crusader for the common people, who led the fight that robbed the house of lords of its veto power and made of the title an empty honor. Hereafter, like that other great commoner William Gladstone, he has scorned the royal accolade, but David now is old, very old, and no doubt enjoys the final flashing upon him of the spotlight which was once exclusively his. The son of a lowly cobbler dons the ermine of an age long gone—as is his own.

"Give up and marry," a Justice of Peace advises bachelors. Or does he mean marry and give up?

Take My Word For it . . . Frank Colby

From W. Q. L. of Long Beach: What answer could be given to the question in my limerick:

A crabbed and petulant moose Inquired of his friend, a mongoose: "Take the plural word geese, Would that make nooses 'neese,' And the plural 'papeese' for papoose?" My answer:

The mongoose agreed, "It abuse is. 'Cabeese' is not right for caboosees. And they'd label it rural To say fleese is plural. Or 'calabeese' for calaboosees."

From A. C. Elmira: In a magazine editorial, I came across the sentence: "Business has grown honest." Can anything be honest than honest?

Answer: "Honest" has no modern sanction; it could be qualified by more, most, less, least. However, in Shakespeare's day, "honest" and "honestest" were good usage. In Much Ado About Nothing, Verges says, "I thank God, I am as honest as any man living, that is an old man and no honest man but I."

Also, in the same play, Shakespeare wrote, "Silence is the perfectest herald of joy."

From J. S. of Bessemer: In a recent magazine article, Royal Arch Gunnison, describing the invasion of Leyte, wrote of a Jap body hurled through the air with "arms and legs akimbo." Since akimbo means "with the hand on the hip"—well, you take it from there, Pancho.

Answer: The Jap is a loose-jointed boobo: When the Yanks score a bull's-eye, Ker-whimbo!

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Reykjavik, Iceland—If proof were needed that the world is bound together beyond any possibility of isolation, it is this once lonely island that seemed to lie so far off the beaten track.

It is not lonely now. Big planes come and go, along what is the shortest route to Europe. The Americans have built big bases here. They have set up radio ranges and all the complete aids to speed safety in the air.

For nearly 1100 years, Icelanders had lived their own separate and secluded lives. They were proud of their insularity. The ties they had were with Europe rather than with America.

Then came the Nazi thrust for world power. Iceland was an important spot on the Nazi map of aggression. They had begun the process of propaganda and infiltration which was to have been followed by seizure of the island.

—RESENTED ALLIED "INVASION"—

The Americans and the British moved first. Their "invasion" was hardly more welcome to the Icelanders than the Nazis would have been. Like most of the rest of us, the Icelanders were still living in the pre-air age when distance seemed to guarantee security. Relations were strained, to put it mildly, at the beginning of the American occupation. Unpleasant incidents marked the shattering of their ancient self-sufficiency. Recently there has been a decided improvement in the relations between the two peoples, but it is not yet by any means perfect.

On both sides there is a strain. For American soldiers stationed here. The place seems bleak and lonely. Fog and wind and rain sweep over the rocky fields. The capital of Reykjavik offers little in the way of entertainment, and that is particularly true for enlisted men.

What is more important, it's hard to realize you're part of the war, and a vital part, when you never see it or hear it. There was danger here for a time. But it has long since passed, and now this spot seems like a backwater.

Because of transportation difficulties, it is hard to live up to the rotation policy under which transfers are made after a specific term of service on the island. As a result, many men have been here for what seems like a never-ending time. This makes for a big morale problem.

—TIMES HAVE CHANGED—

Talking with Jon Arnason, one of Iceland's civic and political leaders, you're made strongly aware of how abrupt have been the changes in our world. A man in his sixties, Arnason remembers when it was a four-day journey from his home in Skagafjörður to Reykjavik. The automobile cut that trip to ten hours. In the same length of time today, you can fly to New York or London.

Arnason has never been in America, although nearly every year for thirty years he visited Europe in connection with development of the cooperatives, of which he is leader, or on government business. He is also chairman of the Icelandic National bank and his signature appears on all Icelandic currency, which is one reason American flyers like to get his name on their shortsleeved shirts.

Just as this island with its 130,000 people will never again be isolated physically from the outside world, so, too, ideas and ideologies from the outside today are current here. Some of the younger generation succumbed to Nazi propaganda. In scorn they greeted the invading Americans with the Nazi salute.

Now many of these same young people have swung over to Communism. There are ten Communists in parliament, and they have their own newspaper. Often, older men such as Arnason try to argue with their impetuous colleagues.

"But it is to little avail," he told me. "They always come back with the answer: 'God is God,' and the discussion is closed."

In his grave, slow-spoken way, Arnason shakes his head a little sadly over such unreasonableness. He takes the view that Iceland must now draw much closer to America and learn the virtues of the American system. Today there are 200 Icelandic students going to school in colleges in the United States. If it were not for the war, of course, they would be studying in Europe.

So Iceland, with its pride in its ancient democratic tradition, is being drawn into the world stream, as are all other places that once were remote and distant.

Grace Allen Says

Well, thank goodness, things seem to be getting back to normal at last. Mr. Roosevelt is back in office as President. Henry Wallace expects to announce a new business connection soon. A volcano is erupting in Mexico, and Harold Ickes is getting ready to follow suit.

The Russians, whose favorite song is "Dark Eyes," are back at their favorite pastime of giving black eyes to the German high command.

That old established firm of Roosevelt, Stalin and Churchill has taken young Mr. Stettinius into partnership. Now when the discussion gets too heated they can cool off with a round of bridge.

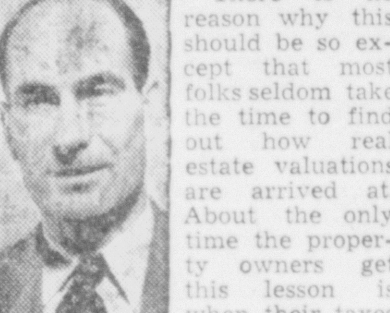

Everyone seems to be more cheerful now that the sun is shining again. For awhile the whole sky seemed to be overcast with flying Roosevelt dogs. And Congress had plenty to say about those dogs, just as I predicted. Yes, things are certainly normal again.

YOU AND YOUR HOUSE—To the average home owner the ways of the assessor who places a taxable value on your house are about as understandable as the incantations of a Solomon Island witch doctor.

There is no reason why this should be so except that most folks seldom take the time to find out how real estate valuations are arrived at. About the only time the property owners get this lesson is when their taxes take a jump and they find that taxes are based on valuations and valuations are established by the assessor and approved by the board of review.

They discover this when they make a complaint and eventually find themselves telling their troubles to the board of review which meets in Escanaba each June in city hall.

The board of review is always sympathetic. Sometimes it even goes into a huddle on the complaint and comes out with reduction—but this is seldom. Mostly it is polite, but firm.

AND TAXES—The amount you, as a home owner in Escanaba, pay in taxes is determined by the assessed valuation on your property and the rate of your city, county and school taxes. City tax rates are low because the city utilities bring in revenue. The total school and county tax rate is set by state law—not more than 15 mills, or $15 per $1,000 of your assessed valuation.

ON VALUATIONS—Tax rates are pretty much what they are by necessity. The Escanaba city tax rate is the third lowest per capita of any city in Michigan. The county-school rate is set by law and cannot be increased beyond 15 mills.

But the valuation on your property, as it is set for tax assessment purposes, can get so far out of line that mere rate changes won't make a very big difference, basically. For your assessed valuation is the foundation of your taxation system.

Comparing assessed valuation further: If the foundation of your house were out of kilter (one end high, one end low) you wouldn't try to straighten out the mess by jacking up the roof. No, you'd raise the house temporarily and get that foundation on the level so the whole structure would be on even keel.

IT'S BEING DONE—Right here in Escanaba (figuratively speaking) our taxation system is having its foundation straightened.

The people on the low end of the house won't like it because they will have their assessments raised.

The people on the high end of the house will think it's wonderful to get a little closer to the level.

And the people in the middle will stay right where they were—which will satisfy them.

WHY IT'S NEEDED—If you are one of those living in the middle of the local valuation structure you may wonder why you and your house have to be brought into the picture at all. In other words, why not work on the high and low and leave the middle out?

The answer to that is that if the low side of the house settles too far you won't be in the middle any more. For the foundation will crack and the whole structure will come tumbling down. Which is no way to treat the people who pay the tax bills.

The last time the local tax structure had a general overhauling of its foundation was back in 1916. It was done by the state at that time, and there are folks who say the state tax experts of that period didn't employ union labor,

INTO THE PAST

10 Years Ago—1935

Gladstone—Coal mining under water is a quasi-industry that has been keeping some 200 or more Gladstone men busy these days. Back in 1891 the first Pittsburgh coal dock burned letting a huge amount of black fuel, estimated at various figures from 40,000 to 80,000 tons, to the bottom of Little Bay de Noquet. Now the coal is being retrieved.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward P. Crosswell were honor guests at a surprise party arranged in honor of their party wedding anniversary and held Saturday evening at their home. Bunco was played, Mrs. Rudolph Schwarz and Al Foster of Gladstone holding high score and Mrs. Herman Dahlgren and Ernest Boes receiving consolation awards. Mr. and Mrs. Crosswell were presented with a beautiful gift. The party was arranged by Mrs. Boes and Mrs. Clarence Sandborn.

20 Years Ago—1925

Lucille Dube left yesterday for Chicago where she will enter the girl's skating derby to be held Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. Miss Dube is an experienced skater and has a good chance to carry off some of the honors for Escanaba. She is the only local representative entered.

Manistique—A pan of charcoal, placed under an automobile to warm up a cold engine, was the cause of a fire at the W. H. McMullin garage shortly after eight o'clock Friday morning.

25 Years Ago—1920

Hair that loses its color and luster or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old time recipe.

the work was that poor.

THE FIRST TIME — For the sake of argument then, we'll agree the state did a lousy job — and have to admit at the same time that until the city council recently ordered a reappraisal of the city started a reappraisal of its own, complete with pictures and records of every residence, but it was not finished before the war started. However, those incomplete records are a help in the work that is under way now. Without them the cost would have been more to the city.

HIGH AND LOW—When the reappraisal is completed in Escanaba the valuations will be on a firm and just foundation.

But what about the rest of the county?

Here again there is need for reappraisal within each township and each city to assure, first of all, that inequalities in assessment are eliminated. That is simple justice to the individual property owner. He should be required to pay no more, nor less, than his fair share of the tax load.

If Escanaba has found it necessary to get its foundation repaired and on the level, despite earlier efforts in the right direction, what must be the condition in other governmental units of the county where no such effort has been made?

THE INDIVIDUAL — In the ramifications of taxation the individual has been lost sight of. He has been bombarded with words like reappraisal, revaluation, equalization, assessed valuation, equalized valuation, true cash value until he is ready to give up.

But he knows that, as a property owner, he is the backbone of his community. He also knows that he pays the tax bills, and he wants those bills based on fair and equal assessments.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

(Lt. Col. R. S. Allen now on active service)

Washington—The other day this writer visited Walter Reed hospital to speak before a group of wounded combat veterans. They were a real inspiration.

Many of them were handicapped for life, but you didn't see a long face among them. The boys knew how to grin and keep their chins up, even those with an arm or leg off.

Moreover, they do a lot of thinking these days about what's going to happen after this war is over. Their questions proved that. Naturally they are watching the war, but even more, they seemed to be watching the snarled skeins of our diplomacy. They asked me many questions about Greece, and were intensely interested in the operation of our new millionaire state department.

It was obvious doubts had arisen in their minds whether the peace they had been fighting for, had given their arms and legs for, would be thrown to the wolves of imperialism after the war.

This was the biggest question in their minds.

And one question in my mind when I came away was whether it wouldn't be a very sound idea to have at least one representative of the 11,000,000 men who have been fighting this war sit at the peace table after the war is over.

After the last war we saw a group of old men, one of them nearly eighty, write a peace which was torn to shreds. Certainly the G. I. Joes couldn't do any worse. And they might do a lot better.

—CHURCHILL'S OUTWORN VIEWPOINT—

Today we have seen what older men already have started to do with the peace of the world. Winston Churchill, who is seventy, who trained in the British army half a century ago when it was mopping up the Indians in the Punjab, when it sent a conquering expedition up the Nile, and waged war on the peaceful Dutch in South Africa, has demonstrated he cannot divorce himself from that old-fashioned philosophy. He demonstrated his philosophy when he telegraphed General Scobie to "treat Athens as a conquered city."

But there is a new philosophy on the part of the men who are fighting this war, both the G. I. Joes of this country and the Tommies of Mr. Churchill's army. Churchill has seen wars, and fought in wars, and directed wars ever since he was twenty-one, including the terrible massacre at Gallipoli. It is hard for him to conceive a world which might be warless. He cannot think along those lines. His former office does not even want to punish Adolf Hitler.

Therefore, when it comes to writing the peace, let's dilute our elderly diplomacy with youth—with the youths who have sacrificed, and who want to build a world in which they can live peacefully. I don't propose discarding all the wisdom of age. Keep some of the old men at the peace table, but give them the refreshing influence of at least one hard-hitting hard-talking G. I. Joe as a full-fledged delegate at the peace conference.

—GLAMOR BOY STETTINIUS—

Vivacious Ed Stettinius seems to be spending almost more time trying to butter-up his public relations than in being secretary of state. He spent five days in New York recently posing for a motion picture on the state department. He hired a hall and a brass band to introduce his new "team" to the rest of the state department. He has had almost every senator who fought confirmation of his team down for a conference, and he is giving a series of luncheons so that his millionaire assistants can meet other members of the cabinet.

After one such luncheon, which lasted two hours with Secretary of War Stimson and high officials of the war department, forthright Undersecretary of War Patterson remarked:

"Two hours wasted which we could have spent winning the war."

Some of his cabinet colleagues have observed privately if Stettinius spent as much time on improving U. S. foreign policy in Greece, Italy, Belgium, etc., as he did trying to improve his press relations, his press relations would take care of themselves.

However, you have to give Stettinius credit for being willing to listen to criticism. Most unique of all sessions was that with his crusty, hard-hitting cabinet colleague, Secretary of the Interior Ickes. Accompanied by his assistant secretaries, Ickes lunched with Stettinius and his team, after which Stettinius said his new department would appreciate any suggestions, ideas and criticism, and he hoped Mr. Ickes would give them the benefit of his views.

War plant workers can never be sure that a strike will get a raise in pay—but they can be, that it will bring a raise in public indignation.

There's no explaining the heaviest snow-fall in years—but we all get the drift.

Wartime work has taught people to do anything to learn so they can learn to do anything.

Cleveland boasts an excellent traffic safety record. Maybe it's a good idea to keep autos in snow drifts.

Lack of candy, cigarettes, ice cream, etc., threatens to drive some druggists back to selling drugs.

The bride wore the traditional white satin gown, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, long sleeves forming points over the wrists, and a full skirt. The bodice was trimmed with seed pearls and matched the tiara which held her finger-tip veil in place. She carried a bouquet of snapdragons and chrysanthemums.

Miss Melie Bussineau, who served as her sister's maid of honor, chose a gown with bodice of pink jersey and skirt of pink net-over-taffeta. She wore a shoulder-length veil and carried a bouquet similar to that of the bride.

MoMM 3/c Kenneth Couchene, U. S. Navy, a close friend of the bridegroom, was best man.

DISTURBS BEAR
IN WINTER DEN

Piecemaker's Saw Pokes Bruin; Both Are Surprised

Sam Minor, Rapid River service station operator, is generally credited as being the week's most surprised piecemaker.

Sam, who is known to many in this locality for his feats on the diamond and golf links, this winter has been cutting shortstuffs north of Rapid River to help reduce the existing shortage in pulpwood and posts.

The other day while sawing a tree to fell it the end of his cross-cut saw probed the inner recess of a large hollow at the foot of a closely stub. The saw touched something soft and about that time moved slightly from a power source other than Sam.

Closely following, out of the opening scrambled a very annoyed and astonished looking bear and it went by Minor, down the skidroad and out of sight. Apparently the piecemaker had violated the bear's den and arousing the animal it cleared out for safer places.

Not knowing the temper of the animal, Sam did nothing at the time to stop its getaway. The following day his helper attempted to trail the animal and learn where it had gone but he lost the trail after some distance.

It is believed that the bear immediately sought out another spot and denned up again.

SIGNAL DENIEDSoo Line Railway Says
Installation Not
Feasible Now

The Soo Line railroad has rejected the request of the City of Manistique for the installation of an automatic warning signal at the Soo Line crossing on Deer street, the city council was advised at its regular meeting Monday evening.

The engineering division of the railroad informed City Manager Charles Manson that the Michigan state highway department in 1941 recommended reflectorized railroad crossing sign at the Deer street crossing and that the reflectors were installed. The railroad official declared that present WPB regulations and the manpower shortage also make the installation of automatic warning signals at the crossing impossible at this time.

City Manager Manson reported that the state highway department made further investigations following the fatal accident at the crossing in November, the third accident within a year, and that a recommendation for the installation of automatic warning signals may result from that investigation.

An ordinance for the regulation of eating and drinking establishments in Manistique was discussed by the council and City Attorney G. S. Johnson instructed to draw up such an ordinance, patterned along lines recommended as standard by the federal government, for presentation to the council at its next meeting. Health officials also have been invited to attend the meeting.

The council authorized the expenditure of $350 for the purchase of a one way snow plow to be installed on one of the city's one and a half ton trucks. The snow plow, with a 7 foot, 6 inch blade, is needed to supplement the city's existing plow equipment, Manson said. Bids will be taken for the purchase.

City Manager Manson also informed the council that the lease offered to Harvey Casemore, of Detroit, for the use of city-owned land on the Manistique river has been forwarded to Casemore but has not yet been returned for the city's signature. Casemore wanted the use of the property to salvage timber from the Manistique river and tributary waters.

Capt. James Fyvie, Manistique physician with the U. S. Army medical corps, was wounded in action in Germany but he has recovered from his wounds and has returned to action, it has been learned here. His wife resides on Range street here.

Capt. Fyvie has been awarded the Purple Heart and the Bronze Star for gallantry in action. He was slightly wounded in the hand and on the face, over an eye. The details of the action in which Capt. Fyvie was awarded the Bronze Star have not been announced.

ShortsConchies Denied Right
To Come To Manistique

Manistique has been declared "out of bounds" for conscientious objectors of the CPS camp No. 135 at Germfask, it has been learned. The camp went down on a temporary basis last Wednesday night and was made permanent by order of the Selective Service headquarters a day or two later.

Under the terms of the order members of the CPS camp will be prohibited from visiting Manistique and no passes will be issued to them to come to this city. Police Chief Elmer Anderson declared that any of the "conchies" found in the city will be immediately arrested. The first such case occurred Sunday night when one of the CPS members was picked up in Manistique and lodged in jail until officers of the camp came here to return the "prisoner" to Germfask.

Letter from Sheahan
The order will be rigidly enforced, Anderson indicated, and conscientious objectors from the Germfask camp will not be permitted to pass through Manistique on foot, or to hitch hike rides from here to destinations beyond Manistique. They will be permitted to pass through the city in automobiles or other vehicles.

It is understood that the action taken to bar "conchies" from Manistique was taken following a letter from Prosecuting Attorney W. J. Sheahan to the camp, requesting the order.

The letter addressed to Norman V. Nelson, camp director, follows:

"The repeated visits of members of your camp to the city of Manistique and the actions both on the streets and in public places has aroused public indignation against your men.

"Some of the men have made advances toward young women in public places and have fomented a considerable amount of trouble in local churches.

"Public opinion has reached such a stage that I am fearful that violence will ensue if you continue to permit members of your camp to visit this city. Such a state of unrest exists as to create an emergency.

"It is my studied opinion and I sincerely recommend to you that you declare the City of Manistique out of bounds and prohibit members of your camp from visiting this city so as to avert violence in the future."

The conscientious objector picked up here Sunday night by local police had a pass to visit Escanaba and was arrested in Manistique while passing afoot through the city.

Manistique is the second upper peninsula community to which the "conchies" are barred. Newberry was placed "out of bounds" for the camp members some time ago following a flareup in that city between the "conchies" and residents of Newberry.

Stephenson Will Hold

The second annual Stephenson High school B team invitational basketball tournament will be held February 26, 27 and 28, Coach Leo J. Brunelle, tournament manager, announced yesterday.

Last year's tournament champion, Manistique, the runner-up, Menominee and three other Class B teams will enter the Class B bracket for the Menominee Herald-Leader trophy, while a new bracket of Class C-D schools will be started this year.

The new bracket includes Class C: Norway, Gladstone, Stephenson and St. Joseph of Escanaba, and Class D: Vulcan, Powers, Daggett, Hermansville, Harris and Escanaba Junior High school.

Sanctioned Tourney
The tournament is sanctioned by the Michigan High School Athletic Association as a non-profit tournament. After expenses are paid, the competing schools will be paid according to distance and the number of trips.

Several registered officials have volunteered services including Coach Tom Chambers and Principal Roland Strolle of Menominee, Fred Vescolani of Carney, Dick Schram of Escanaba, and Joseph B. Gucky and Coach Brunelle of Stephenson.

Last year's tournament turned out far ahead of expectations and Stephenson school officials are hopeful that this year's tournament will be even better as it will be divided into two classes.

First In U. P.
The tournament is the first of its kind in the upper peninsula and was planned by Brunelle to give B teams a chance for tournament competition and to award the reserve teams a trip and chance to compete against others in the district.

"The B team is the forgotten team in high school," Brunelle said, "and this is one tournament all of their own."

Manistique won the first tournament by edging out Menominee in a nip and tuck final game, 25-24.

Drawings for positions will be made Saturday, February 3, at Stephenson High school.

Powers was the first team to enter, filing an entry in the Class C-D bracket.

111 Cedar StreetNEW WARNING
SIGNAL DENIEDSoo Line Railway Says
Installation Not
Feasible Now

The Soo Line railroad has rejected the request of the City of Manistique for the installation of an automatic warning signal at the Soo Line crossing on Deer street, the city council was advised at its regular meeting Monday evening.

The engineering division of the railroad informed City Manager Charles Manson that the Michigan state highway department in 1941 recommended reflectorized railroad crossing sign at the Deer street crossing and that the reflectors were installed. The railroad official declared that present WPB regulations and the manpower shortage also make the installation of automatic warning signals at the crossing impossible at this time.

City Manager Manson reported that the state highway department made further investigations following the fatal accident at the crossing in November, the third accident within a year, and that a recommendation for the installation of automatic warning signals may result from that investigation.

An ordinance for the regulation of eating and drinking establishments in Manistique was discussed by the council and City Attorney G. S. Johnson instructed to draw up such an ordinance, patterned along lines recommended as standard by the federal government, for presentation to the council at its next meeting. Health officials also have been invited to attend the meeting.

The council authorized the expenditure of $350 for the purchase of a one way snow plow to be installed on one of the city's one and a half ton trucks. The snow plow, with a 7 foot, 6 inch blade, is needed to supplement the city's existing plow equipment, Manson said. Bids will be taken for the purchase.

City Manager Manson also informed the council that the lease offered to Harvey Casemore, of Detroit, for the use of city-owned land on the Manistique river has been forwarded to Casemore but has not yet been returned for the city's signature. Casemore wanted the use of the property to salvage timber from the Manistique river and tributary waters.

Capt. James Fyvie, Manistique physician with the U. S. Army medical corps, was wounded in action in Germany but he has recovered from his wounds and has returned to action, it has been learned here. His wife resides on Range street here.

Capt. Fyvie has been awarded the Purple Heart and the Bronze Star for gallantry in action. He was slightly wounded in the hand and on the face, over an eye. The details of the action in which Capt. Fyvie was awarded the Bronze Star have not been announced.

Conchies Denied Right
To Come To Manistique

Manistique has been declared "out of bounds" for conscientious objectors of the CPS camp No. 135 at Germfask, it has been learned. The camp went down on a temporary basis last Wednesday night and was made permanent by order of the Selective Service headquarters a day or two later.

Under the terms of the order members of the CPS camp will be prohibited from visiting Manistique and no passes will be issued to them to come to this city. Police Chief Elmer Anderson declared that any of the "conchies" found in the city will be immediately arrested. The first such case occurred Sunday night when one of the CPS members was picked up in Manistique and lodged in jail until officers of the camp came here to return the "prisoner" to Germfask.

Letter from Sheahan
The order will be rigidly enforced, Anderson indicated, and conscientious objectors from the Germfask camp will not be permitted to pass through Manistique on foot, or to hitch hike rides from here to destinations beyond Manistique. They will be permitted to pass through the city in automobiles or other vehicles.

It is understood that the action taken to bar "conchies" from Manistique was taken following a letter from Prosecuting Attorney W. J. Sheahan to the camp, requesting the order.

The letter addressed to Norman V. Nelson, camp director, follows:

"The repeated visits of members of your camp to the city of Manistique and the actions both on the streets and in public places has aroused public indignation against your men.

"Some of the men have made advances toward young women in public places and have fomented a considerable amount of trouble in local churches.

"Public opinion has reached such a stage that I am fearful that violence will ensue if you continue to permit members of your camp to visit this city. Such a state of unrest exists as to create an emergency.

"It is my studied opinion and I sincerely recommend to you that you declare the City of Manistique out of bounds and prohibit members of your camp from visiting this city so as to avert violence in the future."

The conscientious objector picked up here Sunday night by local police had a pass to visit Escanaba and was arrested in Manistique while passing afoot through the city.

Manistique is the second upper peninsula community to which the "conchies" are barred. Newberry was placed "out of bounds" for the camp members some time ago following a flareup in that city between the "conchies" and residents of Newberry.

"It is my studied opinion and I sincerely recommend to you that you declare the City of Manistique out of bounds and prohibit members of your camp from visiting this city so as to avert violence in the future."

The conscientious objector picked up here Sunday night by local police had a pass to visit Escanaba and was arrested in Manistique while passing afoot through the city.

Manistique is the second upper peninsula community to which the "conchies" are barred. Newberry was placed "out of bounds" for the camp members some time ago following a flareup in that city between the "conchies" and residents of Newberry.

The order will be rigidly enforced, Anderson indicated, and conscientious objectors from the Germfask camp will not be permitted to pass through Manistique on foot, or to hitch hike rides from here to destinations beyond Manistique. They will be permitted to pass through the city in automobiles or other vehicles.

It is understood that the action taken to bar "conchies" from Manistique was taken following a letter from Prosecuting Attorney W. J. Sheahan to the camp, requesting the order.

The letter addressed to Norman V. Nelson, camp director, follows:

"The repeated visits of members of your camp to the city of Manistique and the actions both on the streets and in public places has aroused public indignation against your men.

"Some of the men have made advances toward young women in public places and have fomented a considerable amount of trouble in local churches.

Stephenson Will Hold
Cage Meet Feb. 26-28

The second annual Stephenson High school B team invitational basketball tournament will be held February 26, 27 and 28, Coach Leo J. Brunelle, tournament manager, announced yesterday.

Last year's tournament champion, Manistique, the runner-up, Menominee, and three other Class B teams will enter the Class B bracket for the Menominee Herald-Leader trophy, while a new bracket of Class C-D schools will be started this year.

The new bracket includes Class C: Norway, Gladstone, Stephenson and St. Joseph of Escanaba, and Class D: Vulcan, Powers, Daggett, Hemmerville, Harris and Escanaba Junior High school.

The tournament is sanctioned by the Michigan High School Athletic Association as a non-profit tournament. After expenses are paid, the competing schools will be paid according to distance and the number of trips.

Several registered officials have volunteered services including Coach Tom Chambers and Principal Roland Strolle of Menominee, Fred Vescolini of Carney, Dick Schram of Escanaba, and Joseph B. Gucky and Coach Brunelle of Stephenson.

Last year's tournament turned out far ahead of expectations and Stephenson school officials are hopeful that this year's tournament will be even better as it will be divided into two classes.

The tournament is the first of its kind in the upper peninsula and was planned by Brunelle to give B teams a chance for tournament competition and to award the reserve teams a trip and chance to compete against others in the district.

The B team is the forgotten team in high school," Brunelle said, "and this is one tournament all of their own."

Manistique won the first tournament by edging out Menominee in a nip and tuck final game, 25-24.

Drawings for positions will be made Saturday, February 3, at Stephenson High school.

Powers was the first team to enter, filing an entry in the Class C-D bracket.

No Wild Turkey
Hunting Likely

Lansing—The wild turkey can never be free of the sport for Michigan hunters.

Conservation department game men had long since reluctantly reached this conclusion, and now find their independent studies supported by researches carried out in Missouri and Virginia.

In those states, game men have determined that wild turkeys cannot maintain themselves on less than 15,000 acres of wild land. These 15,000 acres must be entirely free of farms, poultry, etc., and must contain every type of habitat needed by turkeys, including nesting cover, escape cover, food for all seasons, water, etc. Fifteen thousand acres is fixed as the absolute minimum; much larger areas are better.

WARREN BECK TO SPEAK HERE

Novelist Will Discuss
Modern Literature
At Adult School

Warren Beck, novelist, short story writer and professor of English at Lawrence college, will speak on the modern novel at a special literature class to be held at the Carnegie public library Monday evening, Feb. 12. Mr. Beck is being brought here under the auspices of the adult education program. Charles Folio, director, announces.

A native of Richmond, Ind., Beck received his A. B. degree from Earlham college and his master's from Columbia university. For a time, he was engaged in newspaper, advertising and publicity work in Richmond, Cincinnati and Louisville.

He has been a member of the faculty of Lawrence college for several years. He is the author of the Blue Sash, published in 1941, and Final Score, in 1944. His short stories have been reprinted in six anthologies, and his essays and articles have appeared in the leading literary magazines. Beck is now at work on another novel.

On Monday noon, Feb. 12, Beck will address a joint meeting of the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs at the Sherman hotel. His topic will be: "Education and Democracy."

CALL 95 FARM BOYS FOR TEST

Will Leave Feb. 12 For Pre-Induction Exam
At Chicago

About 95 farm boys from Delta county under 26 years of age, who have been classified 1-A under selective service directives will leave Escanaba the night of February 12 to receive pre-induction examination at an induction station in Chicago, it was announced yesterday by the Delta county draft board.

Prior to their reclassification under a recent ruling, the youths were in 2-C classification — deferred because of their occupation on farms.

The majority of those who have been reclassified and will report for their physicals have requested hearings before the draft board. These hearings will not be given until after the pre-induction examination, where it will be determined how many of the group have been rejected.

It is expected that the pre-induction examination will be completed February 13, and the group is expected to return to Escanaba either the night of that date or the following morning.

The total of about 95 registrants who have been called up for pre-induction examination comprises practically all in this classification who have been deferred in the past because of agricultural activity.

The directive calling for the reclassification of these men indicates that government officials consider the needs of the military service for young men greater than the needs of agriculture for the workers now deferred.

War Mobilization Director Byrnes, in asking the reclassification of agricultural deferred workers, points out that unless this group is not available occupationally deferred men in the next group, 26 years and older, most of whom are fathers, must be called into service.

STEEL INDUSTRY EXPANDS
The United States steel industry has expanded four-fifths as much during the last few years as the entire British steel industry now produces.

HONORED POSTHUMOUSLY—Mrs. George R. Lindberg, 215 South Eighth street, Monday received the Purple Heart awarded posthumously to her husband for wounds received while serving with the infantry in Italy. Pvt. Lindberg, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lindberg of Gladstone, had been in the service about a year and overseas since March, when he was killed on Sept. 22, 1944.

State Lists More Postwar Highway Jobs For Peninsula

Lansing—Continued progress is being made by the state highway department in plans for postwar construction projects, Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler reports, listing a number of proposed projects for which surveys have been started or completed or for which plans have been started or completed. There are some 520 projects listed on the department's $140,000,000 postwar program so the following projects on which the department has been working recently cover only a small part of the program and in most cases are only part of the program planned for the counties and townships listed.

Following by counties are the projects on which progress recently has been made:

Canadian Cities Ask About Steam Utility

Two inquiries have been received from officials of Canadian cities seeking information on the city-wide steam heating plan submitted to the Escanaba city council by former manager George E. Bean, Acting City Manager A. V. Aronson said yesterday.

One of the requests for information came from Perth, Ont., where attention of officials has been directed to the Escanaba steam heating plan by an article in the New York Times; and the other was from the city of Winnipeg which asked for information to keep abreast of developments elsewhere.

Copies of the proposed steam heating plan for Escanaba, now being considered by the council as an extension of existing facilities, were sent to officials of the Canadian cities.
